

Alcohol and Drug Foundation Resource Directory.

Date published: November 2023

Celebrating more than 60 years of service to the community, the Alcohol and Drug Foundation (ADF) is Australia's leading organisation committed to inspiring positive change and delivering evidence-based approaches to reduce alcohol and drug harm.

We work to deliver high quality resources and up-to-date, reliable information to support AOD workers and other health professionals and help people make informed decisions. We are committed to leading conversations nationally and keeping important alcohol and drug-related issues on the agenda.

The ADF has a single vision: Lives unlimited by alcohol and drug harm.

Around 146,408 Drug Information Directory/Help & Support Services Sessions searches were carried out, 12,991 Text the Effects enquiries, and 6,786,926 ADF web sessions through our DrugInfo service.

As a trusted source of up-to-date information on alcohol and other drugs, we are constantly expanding our library of resources. The table below outlines some of the resources that are most useful for the alcohol and other drug sector, as well as information on how you can subscribe to our e-newsletter to stay up to date.

Resource	Description
ADF Website	The ADF website has extensive information on alcohol and drugs and their effects, harm minimisation, the latest news and research, where to find help and support, and more. adf.org.au
ADF monthly newsletter	A monthly email publication highlighting the latest Insights, news, resources and research reports from the ADF, as well as topical alcohol and other drug issues and events. adf.org.au Scroll to the bottom of the website to subscribe.
ADF Library	The largest and most up-to-date alcohol and other drugs library in Australia. It provides free access to a wide range of specialist print and online resources, including books, full-text articles from 11,000+ journals and databases. The Library is free to join. adf.org.au/resources/adf-library
ADF Shop	Online store to purchase client resources about alcohol and other drugs. Includes booklets, pamphlets, posters and wallet cards. shop.adf.org.au
Community Hub	The Community Hub provides practical resources to help individuals and organisations have everyday conversations about alcohol and other drugs as well as run prevention activities in their community. On the Hub, you can find toolkits, case studies and inspirational activity ideas. Information and resources are regularly updated. community.adf.org.au
Drug Facts	Drug Facts pages are located on the ADF website. They provide information on around 60 different drugs, ranging from paracetamol and nicotine to lesser-known drugs like ayahuasca and new psychoactive substances. Each page covers what it is, short- and long-term effects, harm reduction and mixing. adf.org.au/drug-facts
DrugInfo email service	A free and confidential service that provides information on alcohol and other drugs, advice on how to support a loved one, and can connect you with the relevant services in your state and territory. Email DrugInfo: druginfo@adf.org.au
Path2Help	Supporting someone to take control of their alcohol or other drug use can be challenging, but the Path2Help tool could help. Based on the clinically proven ASSIST model, the tool asks no more than 11 simple questions to make a high, medium or low risk assessment of a person's alcohol or drug use. It then automatically sifts through over 10,000 Australian support services to provide the best match based on need and location. adf.org.au/help-support/path2help

Drug Wheel

The Drug Wheel classifies drugs as part of seven general categories to make it easier to identify a drug type and its effects without needing to know the exact name of the particular substance.

Programs.

The ADF facilitates community-led programs that work to minimise alcohol and other drug harm at the grassroots level across Australia.

Local Drug Action Teams

The Local Drug Action Team Program supports organisations to build or extend local partnerships and develop evidence-based activities to reduce harms caused by alcohol and other drugs.

LDATs can be any mix of schools, educational institutions, health workers, police, community organisations, businesses and local government who unite to drive a community-led response. There are more than 274 LDATs supported by the ADF to develop a Community Action Plan. The program is funded by the Australian Government.

Planet Youth

The Planet Youth model was developed in Iceland over 20 years ago and has been highly successful in improving wellbeing and reducing rates of alcohol and other drug harm amongst young people in Iceland. It is now being used in over 30 countries worldwide.

Planet Youth works by addressing the risk and protective factors that predict adolescent substance use, helping prevent the problem before it arises. These risk and protective factors fall into the four main categories of parenting, peer group, general wellbeing and sports and recreation.

In 2019, the ADF recruited nine LDATs from across five regions, into the program. Thanks to new funding from Wellbeing SA we have been able to extend the Planet Youth pilot to an additional two sites in South Australia.

Good Sports

Good Sports - Australia's largest community health sports program - has been helping build strong sporting clubs across Australia for over 20 years.

Over 11,600 Good Sports clubs are using the program's free, online tools and resources to build a policy around alcohol management, smoking regulations, mental health, illegal drugs and safe transport. These elements together add up to help set high standards of behaviour, and create a safe, welcoming, family friendly environment.

With the support of the ADF, clubs progress along an agreed timeline, increasing their commitment to changing the culture and practices within the club as they advance. Good Sports is free for all Australian community sporting clubs.
